

Why is it that everytime someone comes up with a new inovative idea that the "Status Quo" of the industry tries to cry foul?

XM Radio is far better at what they do and with out commericals. I am a full time RV person that enjoys seeing the USA and Canada by RV. And I can do it with out losing the radio station on land every 100 or so miles. And now that XM Radio wants to give me the local traffic at the cities that I am traversing, the land locked radio stations want to cry foul. I spend a lot of money on fuel, food and services in just about every state in the USA. Since I am spending my hard earned retirement on enjoying the USA why shouldn't the radio station of my choice be entitled to give me what I want and when I want it for a fee?

If you want competition, then let the industry pioneers spend their money to bring me what I want, since I am willing to pay for it? Don't let the industry be run by radio stations who feel they can't be inovative enough to hold my attention for more than 5 minutes.
